1. Warranty period — as specified in the distribution agreement. Repair or replacement does not extend or restart the warranty period.

2. The claim must be sent within 14 days of detecting the defect.

3. The supplier may request additional data, the defective part or access to the equipment, and decides whether the case is covered by warranty.

4. Spare parts in stock — courier at the distributor's expense or self-pickup; not in stock — ordered from the manufacturer, approx. up to 80 days.

5. The replaced part must be kept and returned on request.

6. If the claim is not a warranty case, inspection costs are paid by the distributor. Overdue payments may suspend the warranty.
